Rep. Stuck Aims to Set New Guinness World Record

Applies for Largest Government Town Hall Meeting

MADISON – The Guinness Book of World Records currently contains a huge number of world records, including everything from the heaviest deadlift to the largest Lego creations, but there isn't a record for Largest Government Town Hall or Public Meeting.

"I have applied for a new category in the Guinness Book of World Records, for the Largest Government Town Hall Meeting. At a time when elected officials, at both the state and federal level, have chosen to limit who they hear from, by either not holding public listening sessions or holding invite-only events, it is more important than ever that voters know that their elected officials are available and listening to their concerns."

"I am still waiting to hear back from Guinness World Records on this new category, but as soon as I do, I will be announcing, the date, location, and time that I will be hosting a Town Hall Meeting to set this new record."

"Everyone, especially those in the Fox Valley, is invited to help set this record and to have the opportunity to share their thoughts and concerns with me. Keep an eye out for the announcement of the event details once our record attempt is approved by Guinness World Records."
